1. Scope

- 1) These terms and conditions are applicable to the administration, delivery, and assessment of Academy services, including in-house and public trainings, personnel certification programs, e-learning, and live online training/virtual classes, hereinafter referred to as the "Organizer," provided by TÜV Rheinland Philippines, Inc.
- 2) Any pre-existing general terms and conditions of business or purchase of the client/participant shall not be considered a part of the agreement unless expressly approved by the Organizer.

2. Effectivity of Contract and Registration

- 1) The prices and training offerings published on the Organizer's website are not binding. The Organizer reserves the right to withdraw or modify them at any time until the acceptance of the client's order.
- 2) For in-person training programs, the contract becomes effective upon written confirmation (including electronic means) of the registration by the Organizer.
- 3) For e-learning and live online training/virtual classes, the contract comes into effect once the Organizer provides the client with access data (username, link, and password).
- 4) While the Organizer strives to ensure the availability of the courses listed on the website and official social media channels, it cannot guarantee the availability of all courses at the time of order. If the Organizer is unable to fulfill the client's order, it may refuse it without further liability, in which case, the client will be informed and all payments already made will be reimbursed.
- 5) If the minimum number of participants/enrollment/registration is not met, the Organizer reserves the right to cancel, postpone, or reschedule the training engagement.

3. Eligibility

- 1) The applicant or participant is solely responsible for meeting the admission requirements.
- 2) If admission requirements are applicable, the Organizer has the right, but not the obligation, to verify if the participant meets these requirements. Participants may be asked to provide necessary documents for this purpose.
- 3) For all Personnel Certification (PersCert) and accredited programs, participants are required to complete the pre-assessment as part of the admission process.

4. Provisioning of Services

- 1) The Organizer reserves the right to determine the method and type of service delivery in line with the training program/course outline.
- 2) Subcontractors, especially lecturers and speakers/trainers, can be utilized for service provision without requiring the client's consent.
- 3) The Organizer reserves the right to change speakers/trainers and/or relocate or modify the program schedule, as long as the event's objectives are not fundamentally altered.
- 4) Content changes that modify the course objective are allowed if consented or requested by both parties.
- 5) Statements and explanations about professional training, PersCert, and accredited training services in promotional materials, on the Organizer's website, and in documentation are intended solely as descriptions of training programs.
- 6) If changes to the training venue are necessitated due to health and safety considerations or unforeseen events, adjustments to the training duration may be made as necessary.
- 7) For Personnel Certification (PersCert) and accredited training (IRCA, etc.) courses, participants are required to attend a specific number of days to qualify for the certification examination as stated in the approved examination regulations.
- 8) For Personnel Certification (PersCert) and accredited training (IRCA, etc.) courses, examinations can be taken in person or through online proctored appointment (OPA) or onsite test event (OTE). Participants who fail any of the certification examinations may retake the examination within 30 days following the release of results.
- 9) Personnel Certification (PersCert) is valid for three years following the release of the certificate and signet, subject to renewal.
- 10) For IRCA LATC training courses, certificates retain their validity for a period of five years, commencing from the final day of course attendance. Should any participant not pass any of the IRCA LATC examinations, they are permitted to retake the test within a year from the last day of training. Please note that this will incur additional fees.
- 11) E-learning courses are generally accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with a guaranteed availability of 98% within the calendar year. Availability is calculated as follows:  $\text{availability} = (\text{total time} - \text{total downtime}) / \text{total time}$ .
- 12) For live online/e-Learning courses/virtual classes, the access data is intended solely for one user. The client/participant is obliged to keep the access data and passwords confidential to prevent unauthorized access by third parties.

5. Client/Participant Obligations

- 1) The client/participant is expected to respect the house rules applicable to the training, follow instructions from the trainers, training staff, representatives of the Organizer, and its free agents, and regularly attend face-to-face and online training events.
- 2) The client/participant is responsible for checking the technical requirements for access to the courses and bears all costs related to these requirements. The Organizer shall inform the contract partner of the required browser and is not liable for any failure of the participants to attend any training program due to issues with internet connection requirements and hardware/software specifications.

6. Client/Participant Obligations During Training Events

1. The client/participant must perform all necessary actions of cooperation before, during, and after the training.
2. Unless otherwise agreed, training documents, aids, equipment, training rooms, and other necessary resources for performing the services should be made available without charge. Additionally, the client's collaborative activities must comply with all relevant legal provisions, standards, and health and safety regulations.
3. For in-house trainings (face-to-face/virtual), if the number of participants exceeds the amount agreed upon in the written agreement, causing repeated or delayed work due to late, incorrect, or incomplete information, the Organizer reserves the right to invoice these additional expenses.

7. Scheduling Confirmation for Training and Certifications Events

- 1) The contractually agreed service periods and dates for in-house events are based on the estimated scope of work and the information provided by the client. They are considered binding only if confirmed in writing by the Organizer.
- 2) Insofar as the schedule has been confirmed in writing, it will take effect once the client has submitted all necessary documents. This condition also applies according to the agreed submission dates. The client's request for an extension of the submission deadline is subject to the Organizer's approval.

8. Use Rights of Organizer's Proprietary Materials

- 1) Unless otherwise specified, there is no express or implied transfer or granting of licenses or rights to training documents, software, copyrights, usage rights, brands or trademarks, or their applications.

General Terms and Conditions for Academy Services

- 2) The Organizer exclusively retains copyrights, usage rights, and/or property rights to training materials for the ongoing enhancement of its systems, software, processes, and methods, developed independently or by its agents.
- 3) Any commercial redistribution such as selling, renting, leasing, or lending of courses and their respective contents or documents is strictly prohibited.
- 4) The Organizer's seminar documents provided to clients or participants become their property for internal use only. They cannot be duplicated, manipulated, disseminated, or used for public reproduction without the Organizer's written consent. In this context, clients will sign a waiver regarding the use of training materials and copies of relevant standards (e.g., ISO 9001).
- 5) To facilitate service provision, the Organizer grants the client usage rights to the work results within the Republic of the Philippines, specifically for the contract's purpose. This principle also applies to services rendered under the contract, to which the Organizer retains exclusive usage rights.
- 6) Should the Organizer design a unique training program for the client, particularly for in-house events, the client obtains a non-exclusive, geographically unrestricted, non-transferrable right to use the corresponding documents for the contract duration. Without the Organizer's prior written consent, the client cannot modify these documents/training materials.
- 7) Protected logos, brands, and symbols of the Organizer may only be used for promotional purposes with necessary usage authorization, observing the specified manner of representation. If unsure, authorization should be sought from the Organizer, unless the representation type is stipulated contractually.
- 8) Those certified under any of the Personnel Certification (PersCert) programs may use the Test Mark Signet with personal ID for promotional purposes (after acknowledging terms and conditions of use). Use rights do not extend to other logos, brands, or other intellectual property rights of Personnel Certification (PersCert) TÜV or affiliated companies particularly not the TÜV Rheinland word or picture brand.
- 9) Unauthorized third parties may not collect, duplicate, transfer to other storage media, or save elements of the computer programs associated with the courses on retrieval systems.
- 10) An e-learning course license is typically valid for 90 days from receipt of the access data (username and password), unless the program content specifies a different period. The Organizer may implement technical measures to prevent usage beyond the contractually permissible scope, particularly by establishing appropriate access barriers.
- 11) For e-learning and live online training courses, the client/participant must not use devices, programs, or other means to tamper with or modify the

Organizer's technical measures. If the client/participant breaches this, the Organizer reserves the right to immediately block access to the courses.

9. Training Cancellations by Client/Participant

- 1) If a client/participant cancels their training later than two weeks before the event start, they will incur a penalty of 50% of the participation fee as cancellation costs. Full participation fees are due for cancellations less than one week before the event start. The nomination of a substitute participant is permissible as long as the training service has not commenced and the nominated person fulfills the admission requirements.
- 2) Participant-initiated training cancellations must be communicated in writing to the Organizer.

10. Exclusion of Right of Cancellation

- 1) As soon as the Organizer commences the fulfillment of the contract, encompassing the delivery of digital learning materials or the provision of services, the client/participant forfeits the right to rescind the contract, irrespective of whether they have fully realized the benefits conferred by the contract. This stems from the client/participant's explicit consent granted to the Organizer to initiate the execution of the contract, along with their acknowledgment that this initiation of service fulfillment effectively extinguishes their right to contract withdrawal.

11. Schedule Cancellations and Scope Modifications by the Organizer

- 1) The Organizer reserves the right to cancel confirmed or ongoing training services due to trainer health concerns or other business operation disruptions. In such cases, already paid participation fees will be refunded. Affected participants will be promptly notified. Further claims, such as transportation or accommodation costs, are excluded.
- 2) Deviations of up to 10% from the agreed scope of training contract are considered insignificant and do not entitle the participant to assert claims.
