Behaviour turns systems and procedures into reality.

Promoting the safe behaviour at work as an essential part of occupational health and safety management. Adopting certain behaviour to minimize errors, in order to reduce the potential of injury.

Target Group
For all employees of a company according to the occupied position

Duration
1 days (8 hours) - one hour training session it's equal with 45 minutes

Content
- Terms and definitions: “safe” and “unsafe” behaviour
- Programs and procedures for the behavioural safety
- Reporting, recording and developing behavioural safety programs
- Exercises: Identification and behaviour in a certain situation. Intervention, reporting and recording methods

Methods
- Theory: Exposure explanation, conversation
- Practical: exercises, analysing case-works

Competences acquired
- Accumulating new data, information and knowledge in occupational health and safety
- Significant reduction in the number of accidents, caused by inappropriate behaviour
- Improving attitude and perception regarding the appropriate behaviour at work
- Developing programs to improve the occupational safety culture
- Increasing the professional competence and staff awareness concerning the occupational health and safety and obligations regarding the safe operation of facilities

Trainer
has high specialization and rich experience in both Adult Training and theoretical and practical activity in the field of Health and Safety

Date / City
N/A

Contact
TÜV Rheinland România SRL
103-105 Dorobanților Blvd.
010561 Bucharest
Tel.: +4 021 318 88 34/ 35
Fax: +4 021 318 88 36
academia@ro.tuv.com

www.tuv.com/academy-ro